Each license is specific to the release and particular network element with which it is supplied. If End User wishes to use Infinera's DNA software, End User must purchase a license to the DNA software together with the appropriate number of EMS licenses to access the EMS software. End User will include on any copy of the Software it makes all markings, notices and legends affixed to or embedded in the Software. End User will maintain a record of the number and location of all copies of Software that it makes, and will make those records available to Infinera on request.

In the European Union countries, a software directive by the European Union Commission mandates that a licensee of software shall be lawfully entitled to decompile such software for the purpose of obtaining the information necessary to achieve the interoperability of an independently created computer program with other programs, provided, among other things, that such information has not previously been readily available, and such decompilation is confined to the parts of the licensed program which are necessary to achieve interoperability. End User acknowledges that Infinera makes such information available to End User, and that, accordingly, End User shall not claim or exercise any such right of decompilation. End User acknowledges and agrees that Infinera may terminate the license to use the Software in the event of any breach of these terms and conditions.

End User acknowledges that title to or ownership of the Software and the software documentation provided with the Software remain vested in Infinera or its suppliers and that the End User is only being granted a right of limited use. 3. Third Party Software. End User acknowledges and agrees that the Software may include certain third-party software and technology, including open source software and the software of Infinera suppliers, which is subject to additional terms set out in the applicable software documentation. Some suppliers are intended third-party beneficiaries of this license. Third-party-beneficiary suppliers include: (a) IP Infusion (ZebOS Software), (b) Wind River Systems, Inc. and its suppliers; (c) Oracle and (d) any other supplier Infinera identifies as a third-party beneficiary in the applicable software documentation or additional supplements. INFINERA DOES NOT WARRANT THAT ANY EQUIPMENT, SOFTWARE, OR PART THEREOF WILL MEET END USER'S REQUIREMENTS OR BE UNINTERRUPTED, TIMELY, AVAILABLE, SECURE OR ERROR-FREE, OR THAT ANY ERRORS IN THE EQUIPMENT OR THE SOFTWARE WILL BE CORRECTED. IN NO EVENT SHALL INFINERA BE LIABLE UNDER OR IN CONNECTION WITH THESE TERMS FOR ANY

LOSS OF PROFITS, LOSS OF BUSINESS, OR ANTICIPATED SAVINGS, OR FOR ANY INDIRECT, SPECIAL, INCIDENTAL OR CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES RESULTING FROM OR ARISING OUT OF END USER'S USE OF, OR INABILITY TO USE, THE SOFTWARE. End User shall not disclose to any third party other than Infinera or the Infinera authorized reseller the Software documentation and any information relating to the operation, design, performance or implementation of the Software that is not in the public domain, other than to persons employed by the End User to allow them to use the Software installed at End User's facility and on End User's behalf in accordance with terms of this Agreement and provided they agree to maintain the confidentiality of the information..
